

Art Exhibition 2017

On Wednesday 14th July we held the Private view of the final art exhibition in the school library; the exhibition celebrated the culmination of the Art A level and GCSE courses. Parents, friends, art teachers from other schools and members of the Huntingdon NADFAS society attended the exhibition. On display were final outcomes and sketchbooks, the Art students at St. Peter's produced some outstanding individual pieces of work showing clear dedication to their studies in the production of a portfolio of work. The sketchbooks are a visual delight of precise observational studies, experimental techniques and insightful comments and analysis of the work they have studied. The variety of work on display demonstrates the enjoyment of the subject and diversity of ideas and skills of our students. They demonstrate a willingness and ability to take risks, be creative and solve problems within their work; these are skills which can be applied to the future study of art or any other subject area.
